

FARMER ASKS JUSTICE, NOT PITY, DAWES

Republican Vice Presidential Candidate Devotes Speech to Agriculture

WILL CALL ON OPPONENT

Unworkable Plan Would Be Greatest Possible Calamity to Agriculture, Claim

Lincoln, Neb.—Having set forth to the farmers of Nebraska and through them to the farmers of the west his views on the agricultural situation, Charles G. Dawes, Republican candidate for vice president, went yesterday among his old friends here Saturday before starting his return trip to Evanston.

Foremost on the list of calls planned by the Republican nominee was one on his old fellow townsman and now his Democratic opponent, Gov. Charles W. Bryan. Mr. Dawes, after concluding his address Friday night at the University of Nebraska Memorial stadium, sent word to Governor Bryan through the Associated Press that he would be around to see him before leaving Lincoln.

The Democratic nominee on receiving the message replied:

"It's fine. The General Dawes I shall be waiting for him at the state house."

General Dawes was also to call on General John J. Pershing.

Mr. Dawes discussed the agricultural question almost exclusively in a 50 minute address, the longest speech he yet has made and one on which he spent more time in preparation than on all the others combined. More than a score of agricultural leaders were consulted by Mr. Dawes before he began preparation of the address and the finishing touches were not put on it until after he conferred early this week with President Coolidge at Plymouth.

OUTGROWTH OF WAR

Mr. Dawes declared he considered the present agricultural problem to be fundamental—an outgrowth of the war—while temporary methods could not solve. The recent advance in prices, he warned his audience, could only be regarded as temporary, as it was a result of crop shortage and accordingly made imperative a permanent cure for farm ills. Encouragement of efficient marketing, Mr. Dawes said, would help, but its efficacy had been proven only in the case of farm vineyard or orchard products, which are perishable or semi-perishable and which constitute to a varying degree natural monopolies due to the restricted areas in which the commodities can be produced.

The contention of John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for president that reduction of the tariff would help, was held by Mr. Dawes to be untenable.

"The worst calamity that could happen to American agriculture at this time is the adoption of an unworkable plan," he asserted and then added:

"The farmer does not ask sympathy. He demands justice which includes Mrs. Dawes and their two adopted children, Virginia and Dana, were to leave Lincoln at 4:30 Saturday afternoon and will arrive in Chicago at 7:15 Sunday morning. He will devote himself for the preparation of the more strenuous campaigning to follow within a week or so."

Bismarck—Extensive hearings at Washington before the full senate Indian affairs committee regarding Chippewa Indian affairs, was indicated here Saturday as the senate subcommittee, on its last day in Minnesota, left for the White House reservation to inspect that place.

With the committee members closely interested in the tribal affairs, some leaders of the tribe are anxious to renew efforts to unite the four major factions. Ben Caswell, president of Chippewa, General Council No. 2, said: "The Indians are beginning to realize that we cannot obtain much help until we unite to get back of the things we have in common."

Shell Lake—Members of the Washburn county board again have assembled at Shell Lake, the county seat to make final disposition of the court house removal issue. During the last few months an attempt has been made to have the court house and other county buildings moved from Shell Lake to Spooner. Spooner is the largest city in Washburn county and for the reason that it possesses better railroad service and highway facilities, some of the residents feel the county seat should be located there. Shell Lake residents contend that the move is not a judicious one because the buildings are in good condition.

Assign Guard For Caverly As Death Threats Pour In

Storm Starts
Forty Fires

By Associated Press
Phoenix, Ariz.—Electric storms accompanied by rain vented their fury over the Grand Canyon of the Colorado in northern Arizona, and Friday night had fanned sparks of ignition into more than 40 fires, sweeping an area of about 75 miles, according to advice received by forestry officials.

Rangers dispatched calls from the fire areas to Flagstaff, Ariz., to recruit a force of more than 150 men for immediate duty to fight the flames.

Millions of dollars in valuable timberlands stand in the path of the fires.

FAIR OFFICERS RESIGN AFTER BOOZE ARRESTS

Commissioner of Agriculture Charges Inefficiency in Suppressing Traffic

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Oliver E. Remy, secretary of the advisory board of the Wisconsin State Fair, and Charles Hart, Superintendent of concessions, announced Saturday they will resign their positions within the next ten days. The announcement came on the heels of a statement by John D. Jones Jr., commissioner of agriculture, that the state fair is being run in a slipshod manner and that the liquor found on the fair grounds is only an indication of the manner in which the business of the fair is being conducted.

In announcing their intention of resigning, Mr. Remy and Mr. Hart declared they will enter other business. Neither, according to their statements, have found their present work profitable.

Mr. Jones declared his intention of cleaning up the unsatisfactory situation which he said is found in the fair management and indicated that some startling revelations may be made.

Mr. Jones said he would accept the resignations.

The sale of moonshine on the fair grounds was done openly, Mr. Jones said. "On Thursday I told heads of departments that must stop and I gave them until 11 A. M. to do it. At 4 P. M. moonshine was still being sold in the manufacturers' building."

"At 4 P. M. I took Charles Hart and Charles Wilson, chief of police, and Deputy Sheriff Henry Bender to the building and showed them the booze. Still nothing was done, and then I acted. As long as I am commissioner, booze will not be sold on these grounds."

"However, that is not the main trouble. I want this fair run in a businesslike manner and that has not been done."

It was also indicated that the police force at the fair grounds would be asked to resign.

Saturday two arrests made by state prohibition officers were in court on charges of violation of the prohibition amendment.

Extraordinary hearing before Governor Blaine will be necessary before Gregory can be removed to Illinois or Michigan, it was said.

Justice Orders Police and Sheriff's Forces to Patrol
Police Court on Day of Sentence.

Chicago—Justice John R. Caverly has received so many death threats through the mail the last three days that he had a bodyguard assigned him Friday by the police department as he started to read the evidence in the Franks case. This guard will remain with Justice Caverly day and night, until he makes his decision Sept. 10, whether Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb shall go to the gallows.

Justice Caverly began the reading of more than 2,000 typewritten pages of testimony in his suite at the Drake hotel. He has gone over the evidence. Then he will leave Chicago for an undisclosed destination, accompanied only by Mrs. Caverly and a secretary. He will not write his decision until he leaves the city.

TALKING TO NO ONE

From the justice's apartment there came a warning Friday that he would consider any attempt to discuss the Franks case with him an attempt to tamper with him. He said should any such attempt be made, he immediately would have the person or persons responsible arrested.

Discussing arrangements for the day of sentence Justice Caverly said he had ordered the sheriff and the police department to patrol the criminal courts building halls and stairways and to maintain an adequate force of guards in the vicinity of the building. No one except newspapermen, relatives of the defendants' lawyers and court attaches and the prisoners will be permitted in the courtroom when sentence is pronounced. Even clerks employed in the building will not be permitted on the fifth or sixth floors. The courtroom is on the sixth floor.

THREATEN BOMB OUTRAGE

Some of the threats received by Justice Caverly are a source of much concern to the police. The threats include some to blow up the criminal courts building.

The hearing to determine whether mitigating circumstances attended the murder of Robert Franks has cost the state between $50,000 and $60,000, according to the state's attorney's office. Clarence S. Darrow, chief defense counsel admitted the expense to the Loeb and Leopold families probably would be around $300,000.

LaFollette Financial Manager

G. O. P. and Radicals

By Associated Press
Madison—A statement that the LaFollette-Wheeler national presidential campaign has taken on an added impetus throughout the country as a result of recent declarations by Republican candidates, was issued here Saturday by Attorney General Herman Ekerin, LaFollette national financial manager.

"A tour through Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio has convinced me that the presidential election contest is narrowed down to a fight between the LaFollette-Wheeler and Republican tickets," Mr. Ekerin said. "The statement of the Republican candidate for vice president that the contest is between LaFollette and Coolidge has aroused interest in the LaFollette candidacy and has given the campaign a sudden impetus which is taxing all our resources."

Conferences were held here Saturday between Ekerin and Wisconsin financial managers of the LaFollette ticket and Ekerin reported favorable returns.

Mexican Claims Body Marks New Era, Hughes

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Members of the American-Mexican General Claims commission, meeting here Saturday for the first time to undertake the settlement of claims between citizens of the two countries as provided for in the convention worked out in Mexico city precedent to the reestablishment of friendly relations between the United States and Mexico, were welcomed Saturday by Secretary Hughes with a declaration that "we feel that we are entering upon a new era of mutual confidence in our relations with Mexico to the advantage of the peoples of both countries."

The meeting, Secretary Hughes said in his formal address of greeting, once more "indicated in this hemisphere the determination to find appropriate and peaceful solutions of international questions" and gave "emphatic demonstration of our devotion to the cause of peace."

"That cause," he asserted, "triumphs not so much in ambitious programs, or in counsels of perfection, nor so much in expression of ideals, however important these may be, as in the practical work of removing causes of differences and in providing just settlements. These furnish the tests of our professions and the measure of our achievements."

"The wide scope of the convention empowers the intention of both governments not to exclude from the province of the commission any subject which could appropriately be submitted to judicial determination. No international document of recent years has more fully demonstrated that the highest national interest lies in maintaining the supremacy of the principles of international law, justice and equity."

To Dr. Van Vollenhoven of Holland, selected to be arbitrator and chairman of the commission, the American secretary said the fact that the two governments were able without hesitation to agree on his selection was not a mere tribute to him but to the country from which he came as well.

SIX KILLED, IN RIOTS
AT HERRIN, ILL., TRIAL

Herrin, Ill.—Six men were killed and several reported injured in a clash on the streets of Herrin Saturday afternoon. The shooting was believed to be an outgrowth of the trial of Carl and Earl Shelton, brothers, for the slaying of Constable Caesar Cagle Ku Klux Klanman in rioting last February.

Three bodies were taken to one morgue and one to another. Two died in hospital. All were locked and could not be entered by reporters.

In the confusion it was difficult to learn what started the gun fire and witnesses were reluctant to tell what they had seen.

The number of injured could not be ascertained an hour after the outbreak. According to an unverified report, one of the Shelton brothers was among the wounded.

WALL STREET BACKS G. O. P. TO WIN RACE

Financial Leaders Expect Coolidge-Dawes Ticket to Avoid Changes

EXCITEMENT IS LACKING

Fact That Financiers Have Failed to Contribute Funds
Is Significant

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co.
Wall Street, New York—What do the men in the heart of the financial district of America really think about the forthcoming election to the presidency?

Talks with some of the leading men in "The Street" bring out first of all that the big business people want Calvin Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes to be elected so that there will be no change in the existing attitude of the administration toward business.

Conservatism hereabouts no longer means endorsement of candidates who will give special privileges, but keeping in power men who will not disturb things. Business is not after something so much as it wishes to be let alone.

When John W. Davis was nominated by the Democrats, it was promptly assumed that because he was once attorney for J. P. Morgan and Co. he would have the whole-hearted support of the financial community. But while there are individuals here and there who will vote for him, Calvin Coolidge will get the Wall Street vote with ease.

It isn't so much that the street dislikes Davis, for it admires his fine qualities of mind but, as one financier put it, "We are sure of what Coolidge will do because we know his record but we don't know what Davis would do. He shows Governor Bryan of Nebraska to run with him. Anybody who will do that may do other things. We are not certain of him."

By and large "The Street" is not excited about the election. It is August and, of course, many of the leaders are away. Those who are here are not accurately reflecting the feeling of the community. They want the status quo. They like Coolidge because he does not tear things up. As yet "The Street" has not become perturbed over LaFollette and the possibility that the election will be thrown into the house of representatives for decision, although it is one of the most commonly discussed topics at the luncheon table. It looks as if there may be an election scare on this point later on for the friends of John W. Davis as well as President Coolidge undoubtedly are using it as a weapon to win support and assistance. Wall street would be seriously disturbed if the election were indecisive, for any period of uncertainty is looked upon as a hindrance to business. The collectors for campaign funds are likely to paint gloomy pictures about that in order to gain support.

It is significant that most of the big men in Wall Street have not been approached for funds to help the campaign. The financiers are somewhat chary of campaign contributions, especially after the recent series of investigations. The men who they think Coolidge will be elected the less they feel inclined to risk notoriety by contributing money and it appears now as if the campaign will not get as much money from Wall Street as in previous years, though to be sure this is only August and the cries of disfavor from the politicians are not set up as a rule till the last two weeks in October.

Foreign Diplomats Warn Government to Protect Property and Citizens

Shanghai—Reports of skirmishing in the Quinsan district where the forces of Chi-Shieh-Yuan and Lu-Yung-Hsiang, opposing Tsuchans, are gathering, although they have not been confirmed have led to renewed efforts by Shanghai interests to avoid open warfare.

Although both sides are strengthening their positions, it seems certain that the efforts of the Shanghai interests will at least result in deferring a general open outbreak and may avert a civil war.

The mediating influence in the situation Saturday was that the Chinese financial and commercial interests here banded together in 53 organizations supporting the action of the Chinese General chamber of Commerce, demanding a peace parley, which may take place Sunday.

As a result of the opposing forces in the Shanghai district, the boats were expressed here Saturday morning that actual hostilities have been delayed.

Approximately 60,000 troops were reported gathering or enroute Saturday to the war zone to complete the forces of Chi Shieh Yuan while Lu Yung Hsiang's forces were reported at 40,000, while the population of Shanghai was brought up Saturday over the prospect of becoming the center of a theatre of war, no defense preparations were apparent.

Washington, D. C.—Two communications have been addressed to the Peking government by the British, Japanese, French and American diplomatic officials in Peking, warning that "government in the most extreme manner" of its inescapable obligation to prevent loss of foreign life and property as a result of the fighting in and about Shanghai.

On August 20, the Peking authorities were advised that the governments represented by the diplomats would "adapt such measures and utilize such means as are available to us to afford protection to foreign residents, and to our trade and property at or near Shanghai", in case the Chinese government failed to afford these interests adequate protection.

Peking—Members of the foreign diplomatic corps Saturday visited the Chinese foreign office and received assurances that the Chinese government is endeavoring to avert civil war. Mediators interviewed Chi Shieh Yuan and Lu Lung Hsiang and received assurances that both were anxious, if possible, to avert hostilities.

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—The Prince of Wales arrived in Washington shortly after 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon and was driven immediately to the White House for an informal luncheon with President Coolidge.

A crowd cheered him as he passed through the waiting room of the station and took his place in a big White House limousine. Outside the White House gates another large crowd was waiting to welcome him noisily on his arrival there.

Along Pennsylvania-ave too, smaller groups had gathered to catch a glimpse of the royal visitor and to salute him as he passed amid the whirl of Saturday's noonday traffic. East hidden in the White House car he doffed his soft, grey hat again and again in acknowledgment.

A delegation of officials from the department, headed by Secretary Hughes and a corps of attaches of the British embassy, met the special train which brought the prince from New York and accompanied him on the ride to the executive mansion. When they arrived there Mr. Hughes and the Prince walked in together through the north portal and were met just inside by the President and Mrs. Coolidge.

The luncheon was one of the most informal character and the guest list strictly limited. The prince will return to New York late Saturday.

CITY ORGANIZES FOR OBSERVANCE OF DEFENSE DAY

Col. H. E. Pomeroy Heads Committee to Perfect Arrangements

Colonel Hugh E. Pomeroy, has been named general chairman of the committee to arrange for the program of National Defense day which will be observed here, as well as the country over, on Sept. 12.

Election of Col. Pomeroy took place at a conference of representatives from about 15 military, patriotic and civic organizations of the city. One member from each organization was appointed to support Mr. Pomeroy on the committee.

The conference had been called by

T. M. Morrissey at the incentive of the Oney Johnston post of the American Legion which is sponsoring the movement.

In setting forth the purpose of the meeting, Mr. Morrissey, who was acting temporary chairman for the evening, said that it might seem strange to call a meeting of this kind for the observance of Defense day.

"The fact is," he explained, "that Wisconsin is the only state in which such action is necessary, for this seems to be the only state in which the chief executive is not cooperating with the Defense day project."

BLAINE MAY RELIEVE

The procedure in other states is through the office of the governor and the state department of the National Guard, he said, but Governor Blaine has thus far refused to support the movement. So strong, however, has been the protest of American Legion posts and other organizations that it is believed that the governor will yet relent before Sept. 12, and the militia may be authorized to take part.

Members of the Appleton guard unit, Company D, 127th Infantry, and of the Appleton 120th Field Artillery band were present at the conference.

Friday, but in an unofficial capacity. They said they were as yet without authority to pledge the participation of the guard units, but intimated that they might be able to take part as civilians. They were given representation on the general committee of arrangements.

NAME COMMITTEE

The personnel as selected Friday evening is as follows: Col. Hugh Pomeroy, general chairman; Alf Mike Steinhauer, representing the city council; Lieut. Clyde Schroeder of Company D; S. C. Rosebush of the Artillery band; Lieut. Stanley A. Stald, Officers Reserve Corps; Dr. A. W. Kanous, George D. Eggleston, Grand Army of the Republic; Robert Wheeler, C. O. Baer camp of the Spanish-American War veterans, Mr. Charles Green, Oney Johnston post of the American Legion; Mrs. Carrie Sutherland, Woman's Relief Corps; Ida Ashman, J. T. Reese circle; Mrs. Rose Ballila, C. O. Baer camp auxiliary; Mrs. Clyde Cavert, American Legion auxiliary; Mrs. Roy Davis, Daughters of the American Revolution; Clarence Flowerger, Kimberly, County Council of the American Legion; F. S. Bradford of the County Council of Defense; Judson Rosebush, of the war exemption board.

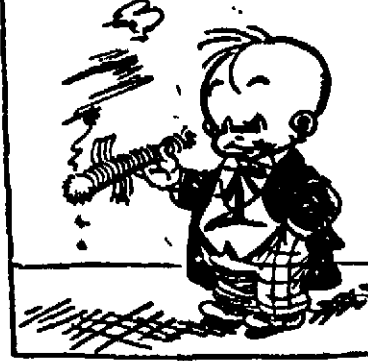

Tentative plans for the observance of National Defense day in Appleton call for a parade and an open air meeting probably in the City park with an address by some prominent speaker. If authorization is forthcoming from the state department, Company D may be called out for an exhibition drill. Other organizations that rendered valuable assistance during war also will be asked to cooperate.

The idea of the observance of Defense day, it was explained, came from Gen. Pershing who expects to retire on Sept. 13. The project received the sanction of President Coolidge. It was aimed to bring about a public demonstration to ascertain to what extent the national defense of this country is organized on a peace time basis. This is centered in the National Guard and the Officers Reserve corps.

Mrs. Charles Herrick returned Wednesday to her home at 748 College-ave. after spending a week in Milwaukee.

WORK OUT PLAN TO EASE TAX WEIGHT ON SCHOOL DISTRICTS

200 School Board Officers Attend Annual County Convention

A plan is now being worked out by John Callahan, state superintendent of schools, whereby the financially burdened school districts will have some relief, according to George S. Dicke, state rural inspector, who spoke at the annual conference of school boards of Outagamie-co in Lawrence Memorial chapel Thursday.

The plan calls for a better equalization of school property assessments, that will make the tax burden more equitable, it was said. Mr. Dicke emphasized the importance of establishing high ideals in education in rural schools. The real value of education, he said, lies not in mere book knowledge, but development of good citizenship and betterment of community life.

A. G. Meating, county superintendent, spoke on the value of cooperation between school boards and the county superintendent's department. About 200 school officers were present, the attendance being somewhat lessened on account of the lateness of the crops which may school officials, who are mostly farmers, are trying to harvest.

Possibly you have not given your teeth proper care because you did not think of their great importance.

Why not begin now and obtain for yourself the splendid comfort, appearance and health assurance to be had from good teeth?

Come to either of our four offices and we will carefully examine your teeth and tell you of the cost.

THREE DAY HOLIDAY FOR COUNTY, BANK WORKER

While labor in general will rest on Labor day, county employees will have a holiday of three and a half days beginning Saturday-noon. The courthouse is now closed regularly each Saturday afternoon, and in addition to Sunday and Labor day primary election day will be another holiday on which no official business will be transacted.

Although the city hall has been closed sometimes on general election day, it has not been the custom to close the building primary election day, according to Mayor John Goodland, Jr. The building will, therefore, be open on that day.

Banks have announced that they will be closed from Saturday noon until Wednesday morning.

Your Pain May Be Neuritis

Many sufferers who are treating for rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago or sciatica are really afflicted with neuritis. This disease of the nerves causes pains, aches, and soreness in different parts of the body, just like the ailments mentioned above.

The most common sources of neuritis are colds, injuries, bruises, infectious diseases or a run-down nervous system. Long-standing cases of rheumatism or sciatica frequently attack the nerves, setting up inflammation and producing neuritis. No matter what its origin, neuritis is always accompanied by sharp, piercing pain, usually in the shoulder, forearm, neck, thigh, leg or back.

Don't bother with medicines that relieve for today only. Assist Nature to remove the causes of inflammation and pain by taking Epsa Neuritis Tablets—a scientific treatment that has often brought lasting relief after other methods failed. Price $1.00. ## ONLY TWO RAIN STORMS IN SEATTLE SINCE FEB. 7

With the exception of two light thunder showers within the last 30 days, Spokane, Wash., has had no rain since Feb. 7, according to W. M. Robles, who returned this week from a year's visit with relatives near that city. Crops are dried up and the water supply is limited. There has been a great deal of unemployment for some time, but the labor situation is beginning to improve.

Value—
The Main Thing Rickenbacker Has to Offer!

That's precisely what every shrewd buyer is after. He wants value—excess value, for the very least amount of money. That, and only that, is found in every Rickenbacker ever built.

Can you find another car which has:
Either a 6 or an 8 cylinder motor which is as finely engineered as the Rickenbacker—one so simple, clean-cut, fool-proof, and compact—one so responsive, powerful and economical? In the matter of motor alone, Rickenbacker is years in advance of the industry.

Who introduced 4-wheel brakes in America? Rickenbacker. And this invention is as important to automobiles as the Westinghouse air-brake was to Pullman cars.

Who was the first to eliminate those annoying periods of vibration? Rickenbacker. "Tandem fly wheels" we call them, which means two balanced wheels—a light one on each end of the crank-shaft instead of only one.

Who made it easy for the ladies to steer an automobile? Rickenbacker. This is largely due to the ball-bearings, which first in this car, replaced the plain bronze type of bearing.

Comfort-providing "cradle" springs are another feature which were conceived by Rickenbacker's engineering staff.

Who first standardized on steel disc wheels? Rickenbacker. This means more resiliency and effects a great saving on tires.

The ingenious Rickenbacker air cleaner, makes for longer motor life and smoother running under all conditions.

These are but a few of the Rickenbacker refinements. All are incorporated in both the famous 6 and the vertical 8. All represent value—sheer, unqualified, absolute, down-right value.

And remember, that in price the Rickenbacker is just as attractive as in appearance. Come in today and see for yourself.

RE-ELECT KUCKUK

Antone Kuckuk, who has served this district faithfully in the Wisconsin state senate for eight years, is a candidate for Republican nomination for the office at the primary election next Tuesday. He is not a candidate because of his own volition but because voters of the district believe he is needed in the legislature. Mr. Kuckuk had determined, at the close of the last legislative session, not to be a candidate again this year, but his record over eight years was such that many voters urged him to change his decision and it was on this plea that he again consented to be a candidate.

The senator's record of public service entitles him to renomination and reelection. He has been progressive in an intelligent way, refusing to countenance schemes which would increase the burdens of an already overburdened people and striving in every way to affect sane legislation which would make our people happier and more contented.

Mr. Kuckuk is as much a foe of the hide-bound reactionary as he is of the hair-brained zealot who sees nothing good in the present order. During his eight years in the state legislature his aim has been to guide the ship of state between rocks of radicalism and the shoals of standpatism.

He has been a constant advocate of economy and lower taxation, but he has consistently opposed every effort which would take the tax burden entirely off one class and load it all on another. Mr. Kuckuk has contended at all times for a sensible and practical relief of the tax burden, holding that the only way to reduce taxes is to reduce expenses.

In this age of a mad search for a panacea for the public ill, men of experience and sound common sense are needed in the legislature. Mr. Kuckuk has both these qualifications in a pronounced degree. The state of Wisconsin needs him and the Fourteenth Senatorial district will be making a grievous mistake if it does not return him to the senate.

GERMANY ACCEPTS

Once more German sobriety has prevailed over radicalism. The reichstag has voted ratification of the Dawes reparations settlement by the necessary two-thirds majority. A few hours before the final vote was taken it appeared that the government would be beaten. The communists made a great fuss over the agreement and used every means in their power to defeat it. That they failed in their attempt is in itself a testimonial of Germany's political responsibility that will be received with approval throughout the world.

Germany stood at the parting of the ways. Here was a solution of her war difficulties. Here was a choice between a feasible, practical and least burdensome way to meet the indemnity imposed upon her by loss of the war, and a continuance of a policy of resistance and chaos which would engage her in war with France or in domestic revolution. There was only one possible selection open to a nation which had the possession of its faculties and which could exercise intelligent judgment. That course was to avail herself of the one opportunity presented since the termination of the war for the peaceful adjustment of the war's penalties and a restoration of the nation to solvency and ordered government.

reichstag puts it into effect. The world now has all of the moral assurance that the post-war controversies will be settled that it is possible to have. The way is open for a resumption of peace and economic and political stability in Europe. It is a matter of no little moment that German statesmanship was able to see and take the path that wisdom marked for it. It is a great triumph for both President Ebert and Chancellor Marx. Germany may now be said to be safely on the road back to normalcy. Incidentally the way is open to Germany to resume her place as an influential party in world councils and to further movements looking to international undertakings for the preservation of peace and the banishment of war.

THE CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Two southern states, North Carolina and Georgia, have rejected the child labor amendment to the constitution of the United States which would make it possible for congress to "limit, regulate or prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age." This action is in conformance with the past attitude of the South. The most flagrant abuses of child labor, and the greatest deprivation of social rights occurs in this portion of the country.

The South has uniformly fought efforts to restrict child labor or to improve the condition of young persons through legislative protection. The South feels that it must have the cheapest labor it is possible to secure in order to promote its industrial development and to meet competition with the mills, factories and other producers of the country at large. Some of the southern states are hard-boiled on this proposition. They have no conscience when it comes to safeguarding the health and social well-being of children.

It was this fact, coupled with the fact that states throughout the country had shown themselves incompetent to deal with the question, which led first to legislation by congress and second to an amendment to the constitution when this registration was held to be illegal. Child labor is properly a subject of state rather than national regulation, but since it cannot be had by the former method the people have turned to the latter.

Ratification of the amendment will probably be close. There are a half dozen southern states in addition to North Carolina and Georgia which are expected to reject the amendment, while ten southern and northern states are regarded as doubtful. Arkansas originally listed as doubtful, has ratified the amendment, while New York, also regarded as doubtful, will ratify. It is estimated that if out of the approximately nine states which are in doubt, four should ratify, the requisite thirty-six states would be secured. It is an unfortunate circumstance that southern legislatures meet earlier than the legislatures of northern states, as this will necessarily give the amendment a bad start.

North Carolina has just enacted a law to regulate child labor, but it is clear that this act was passed merely in anticipation of the federal change, and has sought to prevent it. The constitutional amendment is purely an enabling act. It of itself regulates nothing, and imposes no restriction on labor of any kind. It merely empowers congress to do what, in its judgment and the judgment of those it represents, ought to be done to protect the nation's children against the exploitation of conscienceless employers.

THE FIRST LOVE
It seems that the doll world's been kind to this tot. It's sent her fine, dollies galore. She ought to be proud of the gathering she's got and day after day she'll have more.
Each Christmas Ol' Santa leaves something that's new, and always a doll comes to stay. She ever has had them as birthday gifts, too. A city of doll folks for play.
There's little old "Oh Cloth" who's face is just paint, and "Sister," who knows how to talk. There's sweet "Dolly Vernon" who's dressed up real quaint, and a man doll who's able to walk.
The eyes of a mamma doll open and shut as she's tipped a bit forward and back. A small dancing fellow is made so he'll strut and she calls him her Jumpy Jack.
And then, an old rag doll that's not even dressed. It seems that to pieces 'twill fall. She's had it much longer than all of the rest and she loves it the best of all.

POOR BUILDING MATERIAL

The newer knowledge of nutrition, knowledge acquired within the past three years through animal experimentation and the study of the metabolism and growth of children, makes nearly all the baby books and pamphlets on infant feeding obsolete. The books will begin to answer the newer knowledge two or three years hence. It takes about five years to get new knowledge published, in book form, and about twenty-five years to get it into the head of the layman. An authority on any subject connected with health or hygiene has to tell a thing at least ten times before people begin to wonder whether it can be so. Thus, perhaps forty per centum of the literature population may know, by now, what pasteurization means, yet I dare say an equal number imagine it improves milk in some way to pasteurize it, and not one per centum of the population know that calves cannot live on pasteurized milk, but must have the raw milk which nature provides. Are babies easier to raise than calves?

Mentally indolent physicians, superficially trained nurses and misinformed mothers are seriously affected with Billings trouble in respect to the feeding of infants that have been cheated out of their natural food. They are inoculated with the propaganda of the exploiters of substitutes for the human milk and cow's or goat's milk. One of the most popular of these substitutes was found on analysis to consist of ordinary white flour which had been heated to convert some of the starch into dextrose—as happens when you toast a piece of bread. This particular carbohydrate gorge has the redeeming merit—in the eyes of the aforesaid victims of Billings's complaint—that it will usually bring about a gain in weight, at least for a month or two, and since it also "agrees," why, chorus the half-baked doctor, the half trained nurse and the half-informed mother, what more could be desired? And so far as the books indicate to date, the answer is nothing. But as Alfred C. Reeder, D. D. S., of Bridgeport, says, in discussing the relation of diet to preventive dentistry, the thunder comes so long after the lightning that it is difficult at least, I would interject, difficult for folks with Billings trouble to realize that a fat and apparently healthy baby may, in ten years, present defects that can be traced to the deficient food of early life.

There, friends, Dr. Fones said several mouthfuls, but as he is only a dentist we will scarcely comprehend when he said until he repeats about a score of times, and then after a lapse of five or six years, it may get into the books, and a few inquisitive members of the next generation will hear about it. To be sure, Dr. Fones attacks the problem from the dentist's point of view, being one of those professional altruists who sit up nights trying to ruin their own business, and that is as good a point of view as any other. If a baby is so fed as to insure the development of sound teeth, I reckon there will be no fault in the diet.

One of the grave faults in the diet of many an infant that is being raised according to Hygie is a deficiency in Vitamin-A, and pasteurized milk is a common explanation of this deficiency. Not that pasteurization (a sort of barboiling) destroys all the vitamin, but certainly it impairs the value of the milk in the diet. Cod liver oil is suggested by the infant feeding specialists to furnish the vitamin when the baby doesn't get pure raw milk—beginning about the fourth week of age, with about 8 drops daily, perhaps mixed with the orange juice.

There haven't been many flies to swat this summer. The favorite outdoor sport is swatting the skeeters. If you have to cuss anything, the city council would sooner have you cuss the mosquitoes, rather than the city government.

The skeeter may be a bit late, but he's making up for lost time.

Germany Is Trade Outlet For Farmer

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C.—In view of the brightened prospects brought about by the Dawes report, special attention is being paid to Germany as a market for American agricultural products. A survey of the situation has just been completed by the department of agriculture for the benefit of its agents and the conclusion has been reached that, while substantial trade will necessarily occur, the general level for the next few years will fall below the prewar average.
The survey shows that a market for from 800,000 to 900,000 bales of raw American cotton may be expected to be found in Germany. This amount will be materially increased if Germany can regain some of the foreign markets for cotton piecegoods which she has lost in the last few years. Germany is making a hard fight to regain these markets but is working under difficulties because her cost of production have been increased and she is fighting both the United States and Great Britain for world customers for textile goods.
Skilled labor has been short and labor efficiency low. These factors have militated toward making the cost of production high and places Germany at a disadvantage. However, a general reorganization of the textile industry in Germany is in process and if it is possible to bring about an improvement it will be done.

COMPETITION KEEN

World cotton trade has never been more keen than it now is, with the United States seeking to hold its customers and the United Kingdom seeking to find new markets and hold old ones. Belgium, France and Switzerland are in the game, as well as the new states of Czechoslovakia and Poland.

The survey shows that the German market for American grain is not dependable. If Russia reaches a point where she can export large quantities of grain, Germany will take it in preference to the American product for the haul will be shorter and the price less. The Russian grain business is uncertain. Reports show that Russia is not able to export grain, but these reports in the past have been shown to be unreliable.

It is estimated that although some portions of Russia have been visited by crop failure this year, the old empire will report some 60,000,000 bushels. This compares with a normal pre-war export of 400,000,000 bushels. It is presumed that Germany will take practically all of this, reducing by a like amount takings from the United States.

NEEDS PORK

American sales of pork products and fats will be substantial the survey shows. Germany has not yet caught up on her consumption of fats. During the war years fats were taken from people for use in the manufacturing of munitions of war and the lack has not yet been supplied. Even before the war Germany did not produce all the fats her people consumed.

German imports of tobacco promise to remain at a high rate. Apparently Germany turns to the source of tobacco to encourage the philosophy of waiting for better times, for she is importing from this country at the rate of 20,000,000 pounds a year and

C.E. Ideals Outlined At District Meet

The Rev. R. T. Blue, as chaplain of the twenty-ninth annual convention of the Green Bay District of Christian Endeavor, gave a short inspirational address as the first of series of talks on well known trade slogans, Friday evening at the opening meeting in Memorial Presbyterian church. He talked on "See that hump? It holds," the slogan of a brand of hairpins.

After the words of welcome by R. H. Hannum in behalf of the church and Willis Elmer for the entertaining Christian Endeavor societies, C. E. Houtkamp, Milwaukee gave an address on "Citizenship."

He made clear the ideals of Christian Endeavor in waging war against war, fighting for preservation of the Sabbath and opposition to prize fights and motion pictures, the pugilistic contests. Ray Hauptman was song leader at the meeting and will probably continue to be through the convention.

About 50 persons attended the evening session, including delegates from Kaukauna, Kimberly, and Seymour and Green Bay. Other representatives are expected every day and 150 people are being planned for at the banquet to be held Saturday evening in First Congregational church.

The Rev. M. Blue and the Rev. J. B. Gleason will have charge of the Saturday evening program following the banquet and stunts, and in addition, a special musical program has been arranged. The Green Bay people, assisted by a few from Appleton, will put on a play "Broken China" Sunday afternoon. Among the important characters will be the wife of Chow Wan, Eloise Bonstedt; Wu Sing Yin, Daniel Lomik; Mother-in-law, Ruth Melzer; a friend, Ruth Swanson; a missionary, Eleanor McKewen; Ling Tsee, Marion Fraick; Ling Tso, Imogene Peterson; Photographer, Russel Swanson.

The closing service will be held Sunday evening, and two addresses "If Floats—Cast down, yet not destroyed," by the Rev. R. J. Blue, and "Ye are my friends if ye do"—by the Rev. J. B. Gleason will end the convention for the year.

Baby's Health

CHILDREN'S BUREAU, U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

DEVELOPMENT OF THE NORMAL BABY

An inexperienced mother is often greatly at a loss to know whether a baby is thriving or not, and may be unduly alarmed by small matters or may not understand the serious nature of certain conditions. It may be helpful to mention the leading characteristics of a normal, healthy baby, and the mother may assume the lack of these conditions to show that, temporarily or otherwise, the baby is not in perfect health:

- A good appetite.
- Absence of vomiting or regurgitation.
- Bowel movements of the normal number, color, and consistency.
- A steady gain in weight.
- Clear skin.
- Bright, wide-open eyes.
- Alert, springy muscles, which respond readily to any stimulus.
- A contented expression.
- Very little crying.
- Quiet, unbroken sleep, with eyes and mouth closed.
- No evidence of pain or discomfort.
- A constant growth in stature and intelligence.

Other Points in Normal Development

The soft spot at the back of the head closes at about six weeks, and the one on the top when the baby is from 1 1/2 to 2 years old.

Nearly all babies have blue eyes at birth, but the permanent color appears in the first few weeks.

The baby probably begins to recognize objects at about six to eight weeks, and can focus his eyes on an object when about 3 months old. He rarely sheds tears before this time.

Hearing, in the sense of knowing where a sound comes from, does not develop until the baby is about 2 months old.

The baby learns to hold up his head when the body is supported during the fourth month.

He laughs aloud from the third to the fifth month.

He reaches for toys and holds them from the fifth to the seventh month.

At 7 or 8 months of age he is usually able to sit erect, and usually creeps.

During the ninth and tenth months he makes the first attempts to bear the weight on the feet, and can usually stand with assistance at 11 or 12 months.

He begins to walk alone in the 12th and 13th months and walks alone at the 15th or 16th month.

At 1 year of age usually a few words can be spoken, and at the end of the second year he makes short sentences.

Normal children differ considerably in the rapidity of their development, some being slower and some faster; therefore the mother should not be alarmed at variations from this statement, although marked differences should put her on guard. It is rarely wise to push the development of the normal baby.

To The Mothers of Appleton

If any mother with a baby under one year of age has not received a copy of that beautiful and authoritative book, "Baby's Health" call upon the Appleton Post-Crescent, or any members in Appleton of the Baby's Health Association and a copy will be given free.

'HAPPY MEDIUM' IN SCHOOL POLICY IS RASEY'S AIM

High School Principal Prepares Report on School's Progress

Appleton high school has endeavored to maintain the happy medium of keeping close to best trends in modern education and yet not following undue extremes, according to a report of Principal Lee C. Rasey covering four years of high school activities. In consequence, the Appleton school has not only kept abreast of the best school practice, but in some fields it has been recognized as a leader. That applies in Mr. Rasey's judgment to the department of history and social science.

The report covers the following items: The course of study, teachers, administration, expense of operation, junior high schools and future problems. "It has taken many generations for schools to realize," Mr. Rasey states in part, "that the outstanding duty which they have to perform is the development of the members of the community."

TRAIN CITIZENS
"In this school we have assumed that the training of good citizens is our primary task. We have therefore subordinated in our classes the facts, dates, historical details and in general the study of history for the sake of knowing history to a more productive study of movements which have resulted in the good and evil of our present civilization and of movements at some time which persist as problems to be solved by this generation or future generations."

"In addition there has been introduced a freshman study in community civics and citizenship and a senior study in the problems of American democracy. The aim is to study directly and concretely the duty one has to a community, the forms and machinery of government and the major problems of social, economic and political life."

MODERN TEXT BOOKS
Another department that has been unusually progressive is the department of mathematics. Text books of a few years ago contained much that had little practical value but served merely as mental discipline, it is pointed out. The local department believed that the benefits of mental discipline are realized more fully when the work can be demonstrated to be useful and when greater appeal can be made to natural interests of the natural interests of the children. It is along these lines that the work has been reorganized. The department has attracted wide and favorable notice, it is asserted. For some years the benefits of the commercial department have been quite obvious. Graduates have stepped directly into commercial positions in Appleton. During the last four years several important additions have been made, including a year course in accounting and advanced bookkeeping.

Kids Always In Condition To Fight Disease

Parents of Appleton children don't need to be warned to put their children in best possible physical condition for the opening of school because they are always in that condition according to Dr. W. C. Felton, health officer.

"Parents here as a general thing are careful of their children and as a result we have a high standard of health in our schools," Dr. Felton said. "I see no reason for any special notice to parents to prepare their children for school," he said when informed that health officers in several cities have issued bulletins advising parents to be sure their children are in a condition to resist contagion likely to result from congesting youngsters in school buildings.

"Fit out the youngsters with clothing that will keep them warm and with shoes that fit, give them ordinary care and there will be nothing to worry about during the school year," Dr. Felton said.

BALLARD DEMANDS OIL COMPANY BUY PEDDLER LICENSE

Half Million Dollars Involved in Suit Started by Treasury
Agent

By Associated Press
Madison—Suit involving the collection of approximately $100,000 annually in license fees and penalties estimated at several times that amount has been started in Dane county by the state, it was announced by C. R. Ballard, state treasury agent. The suit is directed against drivers of the Standard Oil company.

$1,000 DRIVERS INVOLVED
Involved indirectly in the case are more than 1,000 truck drivers and distributors of the Standard Oil company in Wisconsin. Mr. Ballard said. Under the Wisconsin peddler's law, the annual license fee is $75. In addition to this, each peddler who fails to obtain a license and operates without is subject to a penalty of $50 daily for the entire time in which he has been operating. Should the state push its claim against the oil drivers, it is stated that penalties alone would amount to probably $500,000.

It is contended by the state that the drivers not only deliver oil and gasoline but also collect business while on duty in cities and towns in the rural sections. Large amounts of oil and other substances are sold this way, it is claimed and the drivers should pay the $75 annual license fee the same as other peddlers.

A large number of independent oil companies submit to the holding of the state department, Agent Ballard declared, and obtain the annual license fee. It is estimated that several thousand dollars is collected each year from such distributors.

Vacation Days Fade Out As School Beckon's Kids

Fishing poles will be traded for school books, overalls for new trousers and clean shirts, and vacation fun for study with the opening of the city schools on Tuesday. Vacation is ended and the youngsters must return to the three R's.
The ding-dong of the school bell

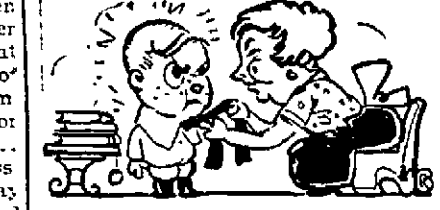

next Tuesday morning will awaken more than one lad to the realization that the summer days of sport are over and that the next nine months must be spent struggling with the most dreaded foe, "language." It will tell him that he must do what mother is apt to term "respectable" clothes and he must leave his bed at an earlier hour than formerly.

The days now are being spent in digging last year's text books out of the attic to sell as "second hand," ironing, pressing and sewing is going on to prepare the children for school and parents are budgeting the amount that must be spent for textbooks.

Though most of the school children are publicly are lamenting the shortness of vacation, secretly they are eager to get back to the classroom, for they have a certain pride in the achievement of scholastic honors, they enjoy the athletic events, and more than one case of puppy love can be traced to when Johnny first "did" Mary's problems.

All in all, school isn't such a bad place nor are all teachers ogres with a

Rain, Snow or Shine Cannot Affect DUOCO

Out of the test tubes of du Pont chemists has come Duco, a radically new and vastly improved automobile finish.

Duco Finish sets a new standard of beauty and durability. It is waterproof, weatherproof, unapproached by any other finish, and a soft lustre that actually improves with age!

With Duco Finish on your car, you can leave it out in any kind of weather. Rain, snow or shine cannot affect it. You can drive for weeks through mud and slush and then wipe the dirt off with a dry cloth. Rubbing will actually polish the finish, without scratch or mar, provided no coarse grit or gravel adheres.

Duco Finish saves refinishing time. It can be applied in less than half the time formerly required.

Come and see Duco jobs we have turned out, and talk to some of the owners we have served. Let us estimate on refinishing your car, with your choice of a large number of beautiful distinctive colors.

A new radio sales and service firm has been formed by Henry Weimar and Edward Gust under the name of "Radio Service Co." The shop will be located at 635 Kerman-ave for the present until larger quarters can be secured.

Both members of the firm have had considerable experience in radio construction and service. Mr. Weimar formerly was a radio operator on board the United States Steamer Sagamore during the war, and was also connected with the Wisconsin Telephone company until recently. Mr. Gust claims to be the first person in Appleton to receive long distance musical broadcasting. This was done on a set of his own making about six years ago.

Spring Suspension That Cuts Out Side-Sway

The Brougham

Combine the Chrysler Six new spring suspension with the special six-ply high speed balloon tires, standard on all models, and you have an unequalled degree of comfort in riding. Other features that help set the Chrysler Six apart are the utter lack of a vibration period at any speed, the ability of the motor, although only 3-inch bore by 4 1/4-inch stroke to deliver 68 horsepower, a speed capacity better than 70 miles an hour, gasoline economy of better than 20 miles to the gallon and an alertness that enables you to shoot from 5 miles an hour to 50 in less than 19 seconds.

The Roadster, 1625 The Sedan, 1725
The Brougham, 1895 The Imperial, 1995
All prices f. o. b. Detroit; tax extra.

Results never before known, which you can count on the Chrysler Six delivering, bear upon every phase of performance. None of these surprising accomplishments is more remarkable, or more acceptable, than the elimination of side-sway.

This is due to the adoption of an entirely new practice in spring suspension. In the Chrysler Six the rear springs are mounted at right angles to the axle, close to and parallel to the rear wheels—instead of at an angle to conform to the taper of the frame.

As soon as you can, take a ride in the Chrysler Six. Try it out on a turn and note how securely it takes it, without the slightest suggestion of disagreeable or alarming side-sway. And while you are in the car, try it out also on a cobbled street or rutted road. You'll find you can ride in comfort at 60 miles an hour.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan.

Never Before So much for the Price

It is not only in engineering design—in performance—that the good Maxwell now revolutionizes four-cylinder standards.

Never was there a car which gave the owner so much in fine materials and workmanship for anywhere near the price.

We will gladly go over the chassis and body construction with you, as intensively as you may desire, and you can satisfy yourself on that point.

We will particularly emphasize this fact: In every part which wears, or has to do with reliability, the good Maxwell is now actually stronger, pound for pound, than many a car costing four to five times its price.

You can depend upon the good Maxwell to stand up in toughest, day-after-day going—you can drive it with the same assurance you would feel with a costly car.

Indeed, if road conditions are at all possible, you'll never see a Maxwell stopped. Its brute pulling power seems always able to carry it through.

Perhaps the greatest boon to the good Maxwell owner, however, is the consistently care-free service it gives him, day after day and month after month.

There are a host of mechanical reasons why the good Maxwell saves its owners both trouble and expense.

The fact that the good Maxwell motor is practically vibrationless—that vibration in any event is not transmitted to the body—is another long-life feature.

You should ride in the good Maxwell, now that Chrysler engineers are directing its development, and talk with owners and learn their disinterested opinion of good Maxwell performance and economy.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT: CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER

I must talk to you a while, little Marquise. I'm leaving for New York tonight, and I do not know when I will be able to sit here again and divulge my secret thoughts. I do not know why, little Marquise, you seem such a sympathetic confidante, for your love life must have been very different from mine. Your lover was a king, and you had to love him in secret. My lover is just an average man, and our love may be flaunted in the eyes of the world; yet I know that in my heart as well as in yours there are secrets that I can never tell to anyone except you.

I went to see Norma Talmadge the other night in "Secrets." It was a story of the innermost soul of a loving woman from the time she first met the man she was to love until she died, until she was loved, and the whole theme of the story seemed to me to be her husband's want of her. "Mary, I want you," he kept saying throughout all the years, and she, with inflexible love in her eyes, always answered, "Yes, John." With a wealth of understanding she gave herself to him.

To her, love was the great adventure always. Even through middle life to age, romance still dwelt in her heart. In her husband she found that variety that made her always in love; that dependence upon her that always appealed to her charity; that utter trust which made her incapable of failing him.

As I saw this picture I thought of an old poem that had been written some years ago:

A man may make for his love a bed,
And though they be mated, he is not wed;
A man may love with his soul aloof—
But a woman is wedded in warp and woof.

"I will love me one; I will love me two,
And unto both shall my heart be true."
But this is the price that he pays and pays:
That he is not sated in all his days.

I could not help thinking of this as I read over again the letter which Harry Ellington wrote to Ruth. She brought it over to show to Jack last night. Here was a man that had said to himself: "I will love me one, I will love me two," and he had learned what another stanza in that poem said:

"This is the law that is made of old—
One may not squander his love's bright gold.
One may not flout his torn true mate
Or life will render him back in hate."

I watched Jack's face as he read that letter. Over it passed the emotions of surprise, of pity, of disgust; then as he looked at Ruth, of great admiration and respect. Jack knew, in reading that letter, that he had been wrong in both his estimate of Harry Ellington, his friend, and Harry's wife.

"I'm glad you are going to get a divorce, Ruth," he said emphatically.

TOMORROW: More of the letter from Leslie Prescott to Leslie Prescott, care of the secret drawer.

Adventures Of The Twins

WEENY ON AN ICEBERG

"Let's go and visit Mr. and Mrs. Seal," said Weeny, the elephant. "The weather is getting warm here, and besides I hear that it's all the style to spend your vacation in the cold north."

"Do seals live in the north," asked Nick.

"I should say so," said Weeny. "On icebergs or some place like that."

"Then let's go there," said Nancy. "That would be a lot of fun."

So Weeny fixed the things in his satchel and Nancy and Nick got up on his back and away they went toward the north, cold north.

After while they came to a place where there was a lot of ice, and sure enough, there was a little house with a sign on it which said, "Mister and Mrs. Seal—Their House."

So Weeny stopped, and rang the door-bell with his trunk.

Mrs. Seal opened the door with one of her flippers and looked out.

"Why, how do y' do," she said pleasantly. "If it isn't Weeny, the old circus elephant! Come here, Solomon, and say how do y' do to the company."

Out came Mr. Seal at that and said how nice it was to meet an old friend in everything, and then he said how do y' do to the Twins, and everybody was happy.

"We've come to spend part of our vacation if it's all the same to you," said Weeny.

"Sure, come right in," said Mrs. Seal hospitably.

Weeny looked at the tiny doorway and shook his head. "I guess I'll stay outside if you don't mind," he said, "but Nancy and Nick may go in if they wish. I'll go and take a snooze as I've come pretty far and I'm pretty tired."

"All right," said Mrs. Seal. "Come right in, children, and I'll show you some circus posters of us doing our ball-playing act and our tight-rope-walking act and our brass-band act and our fish-catching act."

"Hurrah!" cried Nick. "I'm glad I came."

So in went Nancy and Nick to see the circus posters in Mister and Mrs. Seal's house while Weeny slipped on his nightgown and went to take a snooze.

Weeny was very tired and soon he was snoring like old Whizzy Tornado on a rampage.

He slept and slept and slept and all the time he was sleeping Nancy and Nick were looking at circus posters in Mister and Mrs. Seal's house.

Pretty soon, or I mean pretty late, Mrs. Seal folded up all the posters and put them away in the cupboard, where they kept all the things for their circus acts.

"Now I'll see about lunch," said she. "Solomon, go and see if the elephant is comfortable, and ask him if he eats fish."

Out went Mister Seal.

In about two seconds, in came Mister Seal in a hurry.

"He's gone!" he cried. "The place he was standing on was ice and it broke off and now it's floating away in the ocean."

"They all rushed out at that, and there was Weeny, the elephant, away out in the ocean on an iceberg—still sound asleep, for you could hear him snoring.

"We're sorry but we can't stay a week, or even for lunch," said Nancy. "Goodby, Mister and Mrs. Seal. Nick, bring the etchel and we'll follow poor Weeny on his travels."

I think the iceberg had reached Greenland before they caught up to him.

Johnson Pitches Way To One And One Half Game Lead Over Yanks

Dizzy Vance Scores Eleventh Straight Victory, Defeating
Giants, 3 to 1, in Series Opener.

Time has no terrors for Walter Johnson, pitching ace of the Washington Senators. Since the start of the present season the speed-ball artist of the Capitol City crew has kept his team within striking distance of the lead in the race for the pennant. Saturday the Harris outfit, with a game and a half lead over the Yankees, ride atop the league.

Johnson has been pitching 18 years and never until the present campaign with the slightest hope of obtaining the goal of all major league players—a championship. All true sporting fans throughout the country are rooting for the Washington club to come through in order to give Walter his long-awaited chance in a world series.

Washington won the second game of the series here Friday, 5 to 1, mainly through the pitching efforts of the mighty Johnson who held the Yanks scoreless until a hot smash from Wally Schan's bat landed on his pitching hand and forced him to retire from the game.

Detroit lost ground when the Tigers dropped a double-header in St. Louis, 3 to 0, and 7 to 6, and are now five games behind the Senators and three and a half games behind the Yankees in second place.

Cleveland took a ten-inning game from Chicago, 5 to 4.

Ebmke's sterling pitching gave the Red Sox a 5 to 1 victory over the Athletics in Boston. Dizzy Vance of the Dodgers, king of the speed ball artists, scored his eleventh straight victory and his twenty-third win of the season when he beat the Giants in the opening game of the series at Ebbets field 8 to 1. Pittsburgh, in second place, took a close game from the Reds, 5 to 4. St. Louis licked the Cubs in a free hitting game in the Windy City, 12 to 5.

Eight Net Aces Fight For Title

Forest Hills—Eight of the world's premier tennis stars, survivors of a field of more than 80 players representing eight nations, remained Saturday in the dramatic fight for national singles championship at the Westside Tennis club.

Led by William T. Tilden II, of Philadelphia, who is seeking his fifth straight crown, six Americans three from the east two from the Pacific coast and a youngster from the mid-west, form this country's line of defense against a pair of foreign aces—Gerald Patterson, captain of the

Wanted

The Pittsburgh Pirates are trying to sign "Chief" Lyman Nason of the London club of the Michigan-Ontario League. The chief is a full-blooded Sioux, a swift outfielder and a .330 hitter.

Weak Bats Keep Phils Down Low

Chicago.—The Phillies boast the poorest batting club in the majors. Combined, they are hitting around .265. Anything but auspicious in those days of lively baseballs and heavy clotting.

Only one Quaker—Wrightstone—is hitting over .300. And he is just inside the elite circle, too. The once great Cy Williams of home-run fame is hanging around .280, with Moken, Harper and the rest bringing up the rear.

Ford and Sand, infielders, are two of the poorest hitters among the league's regulars. They are below .250.

As run getters, The Phils are in about the same boat. Williams tops his mates, but is so far removed from the leaders that Fletcher's outfit isn't likely to show a single player in the "100 runs" class this year.

No wonder the Quakerstown team is still just about the same old team it has been for years.

ROD AND REEL

M. J. V. FOSE

THE QUESTIONNAIRE
Q. Can you give me a little tip on what lures to use for trout, that is speckled and rainbow, the size spinner to use, the proper hook and what selection of flies would you choose? Is a long fly rod better than the shorter one? J. L.

A.—Spinners to which a hook is attached and baited with the lowly night crawler are excellent. The spinner should be size 0 or 1. Imitation grasshoppers, flies, devil bugs, etc. Hooks No. 8 are the best for all around use, however in selecting flies choose a few No. 10's also Coachman, Black Gnat, Bulebottle, Cow dung, March Brown, Montreal, Black Hackle, Brown Hackle and Spinner, Hares Ear, etc. You'll find a good selection to begin with. I would choose a rod 9 1/2 feet in length for all around use and quite heavy to begin with. Then as you become more proficient, purchase a real good light rod and it will give you much enjoyment.

Q.—Will a perch take an artificial lure such as a grasshopper or a fly? I have often wondered why the crawlers are always used on these and why one hardly ever sees the artificial used. E. E. B.

A.—The large perch will take a minnow, spinner, etc., while the smaller variety will take an imitation grasshopper, fly or the tiny shiner.

Australian Davis cup forces, and Rene Lacoste, French Davis cup star. In the upper half of the draw, Tilden who was extended to dispose of Jack Wright of Canada, plays Howe and Kinsey of San Francisco while Vincent Richards, Olympic champion, tackles Wallace Johnson, Philadelphia star.

RECORD ENTRIES EXPECTED IN TWO SHOOTING MEETS

Sunday Shoot Consists of Six Events While Monday
Tourney Has Eight

Six single events are scheduled for the preliminary shoot of the Appleton Angling and Shooting club Sunday, while in the registered shoot, Labor day there will be six singles and one double event, as well as a special competition of 200 targets in which the high gun will receive a casting rod.

The Sunday shoot is not registered, but a large entry list is expected nevertheless. Numerous prizes are offered for all events in addition to the cash awards, for which the club is indebted to the kind generosity of Appleton merchants.

Anyone will be allowed to shoot for targets only on both days at an expense of 25 cents per target. Amateurs. Trapshooting association rules will govern the registered shoot and the scores will be included in the official records. No shooter will be awarded more than one trophy each day, and entrants for targets only will be eligible for trophies on 100 or more targets.

KROMER'S TRIBE MEETS WAUPACA

Former Kaukauna State Leaguers Clash with County Stars on Labor Day

Waupaca.—After a rest of several weeks the Waupaca County Stars baseball team will swing into action at Iola on Labor day, when it meets the crack Kaukauna State league team. Although the locals have not played as a Waupaca-co team recently, nearly all of the members of the squad have been playing with outside teams, and will be in condition to give a good account of themselves in next Monday's game. Poca, the star twirler, who belongs to the Milwaukee Brewers of the American association, will be on the mound for Kaukauna, with "Red" Smith behind the bat. This combination gives "Stormy" Kromer's Kaukauna outfit one of the strongest batteries in the state. The Waupaca lineup will be about the same as usual, and the visitors will have to be playing real baseball every minute to carry home the bacon. Indications point to one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a baseball game in this county.

Calais, France.—Miss Lillian Harrison, the Anglo-Argentine swimmer, will attempt to swim across the English Channel, Sept. 3. It was definitely announced.

Boston.—Quintin Romero Rojas, Chilea heavyweight, knocked out Jack Sharkey, former heavyweight pride of the United States Navy in the eight round.

American Pennant May Be In Doubt To Last Day

Schedule Favors Two Western Clubs, Detroit and St. Louis, in Driving Finish of Race.

The American League pennant race has narrowed down to four clubs, New York and Washington in the east, Detroit and St. Louis in the west.

The month of September can be considered the home stretch of the long six months' campaign. The showing made in September will determine the pennant winner.

New York and Washington finish on the road, September 7 completes the home schedule of each club. From then on it is a battle on foreign fields for the Yankees and Nationals.

Playing away from home is no longer the great handicap that it once was. As a matter of fact, certain clubs play better abroad than at home.

Here is the situation that the four contenders face during September, the home stretch of the American League Derby.

Washington plays 25 games, five at home, 20 abroad.

Twelve of these games are against the west, while 13 are with the east, seven with Boston and six with Philadelphia. The Athletics and Boston are now playing tight baseball.

New York plays 28 games, eight at home and 20 abroad.

Twelve games are staged with the west, while Philadelphia is met in seven games and Boston nine.

Detroit plays 26 games, 17 at home and nine on the road.

The Tigers play 12 of these games with the Chicago White Sox, always a troublesome club for the Cobblers.

St. Louis has the most advantageous schedule for September of any of the contenders.

The Browns play 25 games, 20 at home and only five on the road. Ten games are with the Cleveland Indians. It is a rather interesting fact that

SUNDAY BATTLE AT MENASHA WILL BE HARDEST OF YEAR

Hundreds of Appleton Fans
Plan to Accompany Smith
Tribe on Invasion

Appleton faces one of the hardest fought fights of the season Sunday afternoon when the Papermakers invade Neenah-Menasha for their fourth meeting with the Palls. Both clubs are determined to win at all costs, as each has won two and lost two, and the usual rivalry between the two cities has increased hundredfold. Hundreds of Appleton fans plan to accompany their team to Menasha, and according to reports from the Twin cities, it is expected that the attendance will break all previous records.

Appleton and the Twin Cities put up the most exciting games of the entire McGilligan loop, according to recollections of the fans. The Palls lead the league and seem to have very little trouble with the other clubs, the Papermakers force them to give their best every second, and the result has been excellent baseball in all former games.

To cap their Sunday efforts the Smithmen will invade Oshkosh on Labor day for a game postponed from Aug. 3. The Lhris Washers have been fighting hard since they took over the Oshkosh franchise, and every one of their games have been close. This will be the first time they lock horns with the Papermakers, and it promises to be an interesting contest.

Appleton has a good chance to jump to the top of the ladder in these two games, and the club is in fine shape to fight its best.

Rivals Will Help Illini Open Stadium

Ann Arbor, Mich.—"Beat the Suckers," that's the slogan that will be preached to candidates of the Michigan football eleven when training begins September 15. It will be the battle cry of the Wolverines for the clash with Illinois.

Zupke's team looms as Michigan's most feared rival in the 1924 hunt for the Western Conference championship. The Urbana school expects to have one of its strongest aggregations in years, with "Red" Grange and Jack Britton as outstanding celebrities.

Michigan will meet Illinois October 18 at the Illini playing field. The Wolverines will help dedicate the new stadium. Both teams have been hot enemies for years. Outside of Ohio State, Yost would rather whip a Yellow and Blue outfit than any other team on the Michigan schedule.

Michigan and Illinois went through with clean slates last fall. They were knotted for the Big Ten bunting, just as the ywre back in 1918. This year the two rivals will resume football relations after a two-year lapse. They will take up hostilities where they left off in 1922, when the Ann Arbor boys administered one of the worst beatings a Zupke-coached eleven has ever received.

Post-Crescents Cop Sure Hold On First By Beating Pythians

Printers Are Forced to Extend

Post-Crescents Friday afternoon clinched their hold on first place in the City Twilight Baseball league by defeating the Knights of Pythias, 8 to 3, in one of the hardest fought games of the schedule at Jones park. The Pythians used a new battery and one of the star fielders of the Lark league, but despite the fact that their playing showed a decided improvement, the Printers copped a lead early in the game and held their opponents scoreless up to the seventh.

A flock of errors combined with timely hitting in the sixth accounted for four of the Printers' runs, while a fumble by Wagner was chiefly responsible for the final tally of the Knights in the eighth.

It was evident from the first that the replacements on the Pythian club would make it interesting for the Printers. After the inklingers had scored their final tally in the initial stanza of a walk, two steals and a single Fred Schiltz on the hill pitched himself out of a bad hole and marooned Bergman on third. A two-bagger by Bushman in the next stanza threatened to tie the score when the Pythian backstop stole third, but Wagner's twisters fooled Schiltz and Bushman died on third.

HACKBARTH STAYS
The third stanza was featured by an unassisted double play by Hackbarth, the Knights' second sucker, MacIntyre who had walked for the second time, reached second on a

LUTHERANS PLAN EARLY BOWLING

Early resumption of bowling activity is planned by the Ald Association for Lutherans Bowling club, which has its alleys in the clubrooms in Insurance-bldg. The alleys will be put in condition within the next week or ten days so the rolling may be begun on Sept. 15.

Club members will be asked to attend a meeting shortly after that time to make plans for the organization's activities for the season. A tournament probably will be arranged for the fall months and up to the holiday period.

W. C. Bolling will be in charge again as manager of the clubrooms. steal and a fielder's choice accomplished this and it looked promising for the Knights when Buchman's sacrifice sent Nelson to second and Wagner's error put him on third. However Cartier and Schroeder accounted for McFarland whom they caught by an eyebrow and the danger was past. The eighth gave the Pythians one more run but the Printers offset it with one of their own, and the final score was 8 to 3.

PARAMOUNT PICTURES---VAUDEVILLE'S FEATURE ACT

Greatest Photoplay Ever Filmed Is James Cruze's "The Covered Wagon"

Perfect Realism, Strong Love Theme, Colossal Out Door Scenes, Dramatic Action and Thrills, Happily Blended in Big Production

One of the greatest photoplays ever made, will be the popular verdict when the motion picture public sees James Cruze's colossal Paramount production, "The Covered Wagon," which will be the feature at Fischer's Appleton beginning Sunday Sept. 7. That is the prediction made not only by Mr. Cruze himself, but by those who have seen the picture and who hail it for its bigness, impressiveness and extraordinary realism.

Perfect realism, a strong love theme, tremendous dramatic action, thrills that are utterly unlike the ordinary sort; a background of real newness to the screen, where the camera has never before been ground; all these facts, coupled with the splendid cast of virtually 3,000 men and women, certainly indicate a picture that is worthy of any director's enthusiasm. And

James Cruze is enthusiastic. He has believed in the picture from the start and with each day of shooting, sometimes under conditions almost unbelievably difficult, his enthusiasm has grown. Nor is he alone in his belief for every person in the drama of the old time western days share his convictions.

The story with the vast sweep of the western plains for background, across which wind the "covered wagons" with their human freight, is essentially dramatic with the interest well sustained, and the story unfolds like a stirring panorama of an earlier day.

The theme deals with the adventures of a gallant young officer of the American army forced by a rival's enmity to clear his name of an undeserved stain, that of being a cattle thief, and to win his bride under heavy difficulties. J. Warren Kerrigan is the man, Lois Wilson, the girl, and Alan Hale, the scheming villain. This trio does the major part of the acting, and to them along with the director, goes

SOME BIG SCENES

The prairie fire.

the credit for this superb production. Others in the cast are Charles Ogle, Ernest Torrence, Tully Marshall, Guy Oliver and John Fox.

The action is exceptionally thrilling, the incidents being dramatic and impressive. These include the fording of the Kaw River by the wagon train, the Indian attack and massacre, the prairie fire, the buffalo hunt, the fierce battle between Banion and Woodhull, the parting of the trains and tragic death of Woodhull. ## Ernest Torrence Has Rival, And It Is A Woman

Edna May Oliver in "Icebound" Cast Is a Contender for Torrence's Laurels

Edna May Oliver, who plays the part of Hannah, the quaint slavey, in William de Mille's production of "Icebound," is a contender for Ernest Torrence's laurels. Miss Oliver played Hannah in "Icebound" when it was on the boards at the Harris Theatre last year, and scored a personal success. When William de Mille planned the film production of Owen Davis' prize play, he selected Miss Oliver to appear in the stage role she had created.

Oliver, "and believed acting before the camera would be easy. I've learned differently, however. Screen acting is most exacting, but most delightful."

Richard Dix and Lois Wilson are featured players in "Icebound," which will be shown at Fischer's Appleton Theatre next week. Among the more prominent players in the supporting cast are Vera Reynolds, Ethel Wales and Alice Chapin.

PARAMOUNT PICTURES AGAIN LEAD

The first run picture honors in Chicago's Loop theatres was awarded to "Paramount" last week, with "Merton of the Movies" at McVicker's, "The Side Show of Life" at the Chicago. "Changing Hues" at State Lake, "Monsieur I" at Rodolph Valentino at and "Lily of the Dust" at Five pictures playing run houses. All these scheduled for early in Fischer's Appleton.

AUGMENTED ORCHESTRA---ROAD SHOW ATTRACTIONS

FARNUM IN SHAKESPEARE?

At the age of twenty-two William Farnum, who is starred in "The Man Who Fights Alone," a Wallace Worsley Paramount production, had the distinction of having played all the principal male characters from Shakespeare. When he was only nineteen he played opposite Margaret Marthar, famous tragedienne, as Paris in Romeo and Juliet. Later, because of his expert fencing ability, he was advanced to play all the 'heavy' parts in her repertoire.

BIG WONDER SHOW COMING

Blackstone and Company of Twenty-Five Promise Departure in Magic

Taken from all angles the engagement of Blackstone and his magical extravaganza at Fischer's Appleton Saturday, September 13, Matinee and Night is of more than passing importance. Not only is Blackstone himself regarded as the foremost of living conjurers but the outfit is the largest in personnel and equipment that has ever been attempted in the history of necromancy. No attraction of any kind, not even musical comedies, exceeds the Blackstone in magnitude.

Not even the late Hermann, the Great, boasted such an elaborate repertoire of opulent illusions as Blackstone maintains. He features the magnificent and spectacular, thus placing his enterprise far beyond the confines of the usual magic entertainment and incades the field of spectacle and extravaganza. In his famous "Vanishing Horse" illusion alone, several tons of paraphernalia is employed. In "Birth of Fashion" numerous handsome mannequins are revealed. "Duck Inn" requires the services of a flock of feathered Magis let alone their human aids.

Two double length baggage cars are required to transport the Blackstone outfit while a company of twenty-five is employed to aid the master in his mystifying accomplishments.

Romping Dancers, Genuine Youth and Melody Headed This Way

Jiggs Due For Hospital When Maggie Sees Him Here With Pretty Girls

Bubbling over with hilarious good humor, come George McManus' cartoon comedy concert, "Bringing Up Father" to the popular Fischer's Appleton Theatre Sat. Sept. 6, Matinee and Night. "Bringing Up Father in Ireland" is the title of this year's concoction. Just as McManus the Artist gives us a new "Phool Stunt" every Sunday, so does McManus the playwright give treaters a new play every season. There is nothing left but the inevitable characters, "Jiggs and Maggie" and these two happy conceits of the fertile artistic brain of George McManus, will live forever and after.

It's just a plain old fashioned "Laugh-fest" with musical and dancy environment. Not meant to cause tiresome thought or any dire dramatic illusion. Just a plain musical show with pretty girls and some new and pleasing music. All set to a scene of rare beauty in the land of the "Old Sod" from whence "Jiggs and for ornamentation in the frolicsome argument of the entertainment.

There has, it is safe to say, been no such a dashing musical comedy in Appleton with so brilliant a cast for the past two years—except "My China Doll."

Everyone remembers the sweet love story about which the hitting songs and dances are hung. It concerns the history of a little Chinese girl who has fallen in love with a white boy, for revenge, after a scolding, by her parents. She seeks the forbidden poppy pipe and in her dreams, meets her Godmother, who grants her every wish. Through a series of transformations she visits the Land of Story Books, Melody Town, in the Land of Music, and the Land of Flowers. All the scenes are dreams come to life, and they form the background for a musical comedy that is repeating again and again in the cities where it has shown.

"My China Doll," caught the town's fancy last year just because of its flush of genuine youngness, its prettiness, its harmless melodies and whirlwind of romping dancers. And now comes the gay word, that with the same cast intact, it will again grace the Fischer's Appleton boards for two performances Monday, Labor Day Matinee and Night.

Barbara Bronell, who has the lead part, will be recalled as a vividly lovely girl who has a brittle smartness of comedy, rather like that of Ina Claire. Her voice, last year, was charming and her acting' chic, vigorous and mental. Reports this year, say Miss Bronell is greatly improved over last season, which would be hard to imagine, as she made a most delightful character out of the little Chinese girl here.

Le Comte and Flesher, as usual, have redressed the show and gone in for much blash, but colorful scenery and costumes with no particular call

TRA ORDINARY INTEREST Appleton and Environs!

tude the BLACKSTONE SHOW is on a par with the larger musical comedies.

I consider that you are especially fortunate in being able to witness this exceptionally fine attraction and selfishly I feel that I have made a good business move because BLACKSTONE has this season without exception broken the attendance record in each theatre he has exhibited in.

Further details of the engagement will appear in our local newspaper at a later date.

RATING LEAGUE IS ONE OF BIGGEST OF ITS KIND IN U. S.

Business Built on Basis of Fair
Dealing, Manager
Says

Collecting accounts is one of the hardest and one of the most important phases of my business and it is no wonder that large and well-organized agencies have been created to take care of this work for businessmen. Appleton has a branch of the Wisconsin Rating League, one of the largest institutions of its kind in the United States.
The company has maintained an office in Appleton for ten years under the management of H. P. Breon. During that time it has built up a very large business which is increasing every year. It has doubled in a few years and there is every indication that 1924 will be the biggest year in the company's history.
"The rating and conscientious service built up this company, like it is every other enterprise," Mr.
Breon said in discussing the growth of his institution. "It is our purpose to give our clients the very highest kind of service and to satisfy them in every way. Our clients include most of the businesses in this city."
"Our business includes the entire United States and Canada. We have representatives in every state in the union and in the Dominion so that it is possible to do the work we have to do every where.
"The Appleton branch handles collections not only in Appleton but in surrounding towns and cities. Our connections in other cities make it possible for us to accept accounts for collection anywhere."

GERMAN TRADE WILL HELP,
THEN WILL INJURE U. S.

By Associated Press
New York—W. H. Booth, vice president of the Guaranty Trust Co.
and president of the International Chamber of Commerce, who has just returned from Europe, has characterized the agreement reached at London on the Dawes plan as a settlement not only important for what it accomplishes, but one which is more important for the foundation which it lays.
"The increased buying power of Europe will tend to restore the business between South America and Europe, and this in turn will make our markets in South America very much more substantial than they have ever been," he said.
"All these tendencies should be in the direction of improvement in our own business conditions."
Some manufacturers expressed the opinion we would feel German competition severely, as Germany is enabled to function in international fields as she did prior to the war.
There was little need to fear this competition in the home market,
however, they said, citing the existing tariff walls and pointing out that the great majority of the American people prefer American manufactured goods.
E. J. Lisman said the settlement with Germany would help and hurt
the United States. He pointed out that at first the United States would benefit from the sale of securities and from the demand for raw materials, but that in the course of time Germany would get back on her feet and compete with us.

BUILDING CONTRACTS FALL OFF IN JULY

July building contracts in Wisconsin amounted to $7,552,200, according to F. W. Dodge corporation, while this was a 24 per cent drop from the June figure. It was 7 per cent above that of the previous July. Included in last month's record were: $2,278-100 or 30 per cent, for residential buildings; $1,642,100, or 22 per cent
for public works and utilities; $1,288-000, or 17 per cent, for educational buildings; and $1,079,000, or 14 per cent, for commercial buildings.

Bank Transactions Are Excellent Barometer
Of Trend Of Business

Balsam Park, Mass.—Any community's willingness to buy—and ability to pay—can be accurately estimated in advance, according to Roger W.
Balsam, who today described a relatively new and most interesting business barometer.

"Most business men face a sales problem," says the statistician, "but since goods sold must be sold in specific localities information on general business conditions is not specific enough to help select the best field for the sales effort. To overcome this difficulty certain of my associates have been working for three years in an effort to find a reliable yard stick by which future sales possibilities for any territory or locality may be estimated in advance. They have found such a barometer in the trend of the volume of local business as reflected in total bank transactions.

"Communities prove to be a lot like individuals when it comes to money matters. If your income is 20 per cent greater than it was last year—and is increasing—you are optimistic and in the mood to buy many of the things you have wanted for a long time. Your purchasing power is greater by one fifth but your prosperity complex makes you take as good a prospect for anything you may be able to use. Again, if we assume that your income is 10 per cent less than it was last year we find a different situation. You feel poor, you are economizing and while your actual purchasing power has been reduced but one tenth your resistance to a sales appeal has doubled and trebled. It is almost impossible to sell you anything that you can get along without. It is much the same with cities. The totals of 'Debits to Individual Account' reported by banks represent the community pocketbook.
Increases over the same month mean that most people are getting larger incomes. Decreases spell smaller incomes. When business is on the increase the locality takes on an atmosphere of prosperity. 'Good times'
become contagious and everyone buys briskly. Likewise a decline has its effect upon the psychology of the entire community.
"If we get the monthly figures for any city and compare them with the same month of the previous year we get a percentage figure that represents an increase or decrease. By testing these percentage figures for consecutive months we can determine the trend for our city—a trend that indicates clearly the psychology of its citizens and measures the general sales resistance to be met there. A city, for instance, that shows readings of 105 per cent 95 per cent and 90 per cent for three months offers a relatively poor immediate market while one shows an upward trend of 85 per cent, 92 per cent and 97 per cent offers a relatively active market for immediate sales.
"Should you require an estimate on local business from three to four months in advance this simple barometer of 'Trend of Transactions' can be supplemented with a study of sources of income which will give an inkling of probable trend. We find, for instance, that 95 per cent of the total income of North Dakota comes from crops and live stock. The trend

GERMANY'S INDUSTRIES
ASK FOR LARGE LOANS

By Associated Press
New York—Many industrial loans to individual industries of Germany are expected by bankers to follow the loan to the German government under the Dawes plan.
Practically every large banking institution in the Wall Street district has scouts in Germany looking over the field and making preliminary arrangements for industrial loans to be placed in this country. The German shipping industry, the potash industry, manufacturers of heavy machinery, textiles and toys are expected to be the principal applicants
here for working capital.
One estimate in the financial district was that loans to Germany within the next few years in this country will reach $1,000,000,000, although it was stressed in some quarters that this was far too high,
considering the huge sums that Germany will be required to pay for reparations.

Office Supply Firm Has Had Big Growth In Few Short Years

There is scarcely an office or business institution that does not contain some of the Art Metal steel office furniture which is sold by Sylvester-Nielsen, Inc., one of the most progressive firms of its kind in the Fox River valley. This company, organized about four years ago as a partnership composed of Harry Sylvester and E. K.
Nielson, was incorporated about a year ago with Mr. Nielson as president and Mr. Sylvester as secretary and treasurer. It has a large and well-equipped salesroom at 743 College-ave.
Complete equipment of Art Metal steel furniture was installed by Sylvester-Nielson, Inc., in offices of the Wisconsin, Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co.; Riverside Fibre and Paper Co.; Ideal Lumber and Fuel Co., and steel desks were sold to the First Trust Co. These are only a few of the big contracts which the company has filled.
Students supplies, loose leaf devices and all kinds of office material and equipment is carried by the company.
During the college year, the store is the buying headquarters for Lawrence college students and for high school people.
The growth of the company in four years is the best advertisement the company has, according to Mr. Sylvester. In that short period a large addition to the salesroom was necessary and the stock was increased several times to accommodate the demand.
The company's business reaches all over the Fox River valley. Some of its largest customers are in Neenah, Men-asha and Kaukauna. It has sold office furniture and supplies in every community in this vicinity.

STEADY INCREASE IN MANUFACTURING
IN U. S. IN 1923

Advance Census Reports Indicate Largely Increased Value of Product

Manufacturing activities in the United States in 1923 were evidently far better than in 1921 and may turn out to compare favorably with the phenomenally high record of 1919.
This indication, says the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York, is distinctly "subject to revision" by reason of the fact that the census returns of manufactures in 1923 thus far given to the public only include a dozen groups of manufactures. But as the aggregate value of their output in 1923 is over $500-000,000 against but $274,000,000 in 1921 and $373,000,000 in the high record year 1919, the suggestion that the full record of 1923 will materially exceed 1921 and perhaps approximate the high record of 1919 seems justified.

Take locomotives, for example; the total output of locomotives as reported by the census of 1923 is in value $215,393,000 against $102,023,000
in 1921 and $156,270,000 in 1919. The number of wage earners employed in locomotive manufacturing in 1923
was 30,027 against 16,583 in 1921 and 26,715 in 1919; and the wages paid them $51,867,000 in 1923 against $20-473,000 in 1921 and $38,799,000 in the former high record year, 1919.
Wool carpets are another example of the big jump in 1923 as compared with earlier years this unexpected increase may be due in some degree to the stimulation resulting from the building activities and the establishment of new homes. But, whatever the cause, the census record of the value of wool carpets turned out in 1923 is $197,402,000 against $103,881-
000 in 1921, and $122,254,000 in 1919.
The number of wage earners in 1923
was 34,472 against 22,922 in 1921 and 22,953 in 1919; the wages paid them in 1923 were $47,555,000 against $28,705-
000 in 1921 and $24,216,000 in 1919.
Typewriters and typewriting materials are another example of the growth; the total value of the output in 1923 is reported by the census office at $52,230,000 against $41,789,000 in 1921, and $52,738,000 in 1919.

Taking the entire number of establishments for which 1923 returns are yet received, says the Trade Record,
the total value of their output is $505,457,000 against $273,903,000 in 1921 and $373,282,000 in 1919. The number of wage earners is 86,612 against 57,735 in 1921 and 72,092 in 1919. The wages paid in 1923 were $125,054,000 against $69,053,000 in 1921, and $56,834,000 in 1919. These figures indicate that in the record thus far established by the dozen industries for which 1923 reports are at hand, the value of the output, the number of wage earners, and the annual average wage were higher in 1923 than in 1921 or 1919. The average annual wage paid in these industries was, in 1923, $1,444; in 1921, $1,196; and in 1919, $1,204. The average wage paid in the industries for which figures are thus far available is in 1923 about 20 1/2 per cent greater than in 1921,
and practically 20 per cent greater than in 1919.
While the dozen industries for which 1923 reports thus far received form, of course, adds the Trade Record, an extremely small percentage of the 350 industries included in the full census report, the fact that the aggregate value of the output of these dozen industries in 1923 is 84 per cent greater than in 1921 and 55 per cent greater than in the former high record year 1919, suggests that the United States is, at least, likely to maintain her rank at the head of the list of world manufacturing nations.
